WRITING GREAT MINUTES FOR THE BOARD

Introduction
Taking great minutes requires practice and diligence. Meeting minutes should allow the reader to get a good sense of what happened at the meeting without being a transcript of the meeting.

- They are written for the general public (do not assume knowledge of district operations or education in general)
- Avoid the use of acronyms, abbreviations and “edu-speak”

Legal Requirements
- Minutes must be taken of all public meetings and executive sessions
- Minutes may be written or may be a recording of the meeting
- Minutes must be available for public inspection within three working days after the meeting
  - Tuesday night meeting = available by Friday afternoon
  - Thursday night meeting = available by Tuesday afternoon
- Can mark “draft” or “unapproved” on minutes requested that have not yet been adopted
  - If minutes are taken in shorthand, must be transcribed in longhand to fulfill requirement
- Can provide a copy of the recorded minutes or allow public to listen to the recording
  - Keep in mind that the public records law also requires prompt disclosure of requested records: if minutes were recorded, you may be in violation of public records law if not disclosing recording almost right away
- See the Attorney General’s Agency Handbook:

Regular Sessions
The following should be included in the minutes:

- The date, time and place of the meeting
- The members of the public body recorded as either present or absent
- A general description of the matters discussed or considered (even if no formal action or vote was taken on matter)
- An accurate description of all legal actions proposed, discussed or taken, and the names of persons who proposed each motion
- The name of each person “making statements or presenting material to the public body and a specific reference to the legal action” to which the statement or presentation relates
- If the discussion in the public session did not adequately disclose the subject matter and specifics of the action taken, the minutes of the public meeting at which such action was taken should contain sufficient information to permit the public to investigate further the background or specific facts of the decision

• If matters not on the agenda were discussed or decided at a meeting because of an actual emergency, the minutes must contain a full description of the nature of the emergency
• If a prior act was ratified, the minutes must contain a copy of the disclosure statement required for ratification

Executive Sessions
All of what is included in the regular session minutes, PLUS:

• Include a statement that those present were advised that the information discussed in the session and the session minutes are confidential.
• The Attorney General’s Office Agency Handbook contains a suggested statement that be read each time there is an executive session.

It may be necessary to divide the executive session minutes into several sections if there were multiple reasons for holding the executive session to ensure that an authorized person sees only the minutes for the portion of the executive session they are authorized to see.

Procedural Comments
Minutes must reflect what happened at meeting - not what board members wished happened (or didn’t).

The ability for a board member to have comments entered into the record or attach documents to the minutes is up to the board collectively, through articulated policy or in approving the minutes.

Storage of Minutes
• Regular session minutes and executive session minutes should be stored in separate areas. Executive Session minutes should be secured.
• Executive session minutes are confidential except they can be disclosed to the following:
  ✓ Any member of the public body that met in the executive session and members that did not attend the executive session,
  ✓ Any employee who was the subject of discussion at an executive session,
  ✓ Attorney for the public body,
  ✓ Auditor General, Attorney General or court of law.
